Whether you're an experienced event producer or a first time planner, we're guessing you'd rather not waste time scratching your head over unfamiliar tech jargon. You would prefer to work with a designer who cares about the event's objectives, and knows how to make them happen. You're striving for an effective, affordable lighting solution that will leave your audience inspired, engaged, and raving about your event. Are we close? If so, you're in the right place.

How We Work

Greenlight Creative is a full-service lighting and production firm, specializing in creative lighting solutions and production design for all live events. We don't bog you down with technical considerations—that's our job, after all. Instead, we focus on your event's unique goals, designing a solution that helps you attain the results you need, at the right price.

Who We Are

We are comprised of award-winning design and technical experts, offering years of event lighting experience. Greenlight is led by Dwayne Thomas, one of the Northwest's premier creative lighting experts, and a pioneer in sustainable lighting practices.
